Comment: Having been sent details of this development, I assumed the image was a vision of what may happen to Hampton Court if a lesser development gained approval. However, that was wishful thinking; I was horrified to see the scale of the proposed development. It is totally out of scale with the local environment, and only will serve to increase the hazards of a notorious accident point. I understand that road enhancements have been proposed - but the increased traffic to the area will still have an impact. While understanding the need for housing, this out-of-scale development in a historic location will be a serious blot on the landscape. It should be no higher than the existing station, and be designed to enhance, not crush the station area. This is, yet again, typical of greedy developers who only look for short term personal gain, regardless of the lasting detrimental impact of their greed upon areas that had charm, before their endeavours
