Comment: I again object to this planning application. It is a gross over development for the size of the site and contravenes the Railway Act of 1913 which was passed to constrain the height of buildings to 50 feet from the ground to protect the views to and from Hampton Court Palace, a major tourist attraction. The surrounding area is almost on a daily basis at a standstill and together with the closure of the through road in Bushy Park and the inevitable increase in the cars and service vehicles accessing the flats and hotel it can only get worse.

There is also the considerable effect on air pollution with the additional cars on the road accessing the hotel, flats and station. Hampton Court Way is already at times in breach of the World Health Organisation recommended pollution levels, which are further strengthened by the courts ruling following the death of Ella Kissi-Debrah
