Comment: The development is too dense for the site and will lead to a further overdevelopment of the wider environ of Orchard Lane.

A scheme of this density would place additional pressure on already overstretched infrastructure as well as public, primary care, education and social care services in the area.

Finally, the design itself and the materials being used are not in keeping with the the local vernacular or of any architectural merit. This development would not enhance the the area in any way but on the contrary having negative environmental and social impact.
