Comment: Can we let money and profit win over peoples homes? This is a huge development, completely overshadowing the local homes as well and not at all in keeping with the architectural sentiments of the High Street. We are fundamentally talking about peoples homes here, people who have lived in and contributed to the community over many years, and who's homes will be completely overshadowed by this huge development. These residents dont object to a redevelopment and agree it is much needed but it needs to fit in with the needs and architectural sentiments of the Oxshott high street. You know this development is for profit only and hence its massive scale. Surely as a planning community we can do better than this. Listen to the community and not the money!
