Comment: I really dont understand why this is is on the high street, who wants to live on a small village high street ? Usually people want to live in a quite area. Its better if we have more shops and retail and less apartments so we have more things going on.

They can build flats in other places and I dont think its the right place as it will look so weird on a small square and narrow street with one pedestrian crossing. Will stick out like a sore thumb and wont fit in with the other building and village charm ! I like the cosy look of the High street.

I really hope this project does not happen. They should actually renovate or just fix the shops/flats and building to make it more in line with the rest of the high street.
