Comment: The high street of Oxshott is, to say the least eclectic, in terms of architectural design. It would not win awards for either originality or aesthetic pleasure. However there are pleasant landmarks like The Victoria and the mini bungalow currently occupied by a Pizza business. If the current plans (with their additional modifications) go ahead, the high street will be unduly dark. Two storeys are quite enough, three is far too much. The entire enterprise runs the risk of meeting the desires of the very few, at the expense of a large majority. Oxshott is quite unique in its own rather eccentric way. If it too is to surrender to the "progress" that is plate glass and steel, it will be retrograde indeed.
